

people or activities that feed my sense of self-worth and value people I can call on who will help me when I have a practical need people I can call on who will help me when I have an emotional need

Circles of Support

Routines and/or habits that contribute to a sense of well-being in my life people or activities that leave me feeling energised and restored people or processes that help me sort out confusing emotions or situations

